ties here that if the talks show any sign of progress they will move to a higher level in the tentative stages.

The conference here was announced as a resumption of U.S.-China talks held in Geneva for 2 1/2 years, but broken off last Dec. 12.

The primary emphasis, however, was to discuss the status of the nationalistic offshore islands in the Taiwan area and U.S. demands for a renunciation of force by Red China.

Appeals for resuming the Geneva talks were made by both the United States and the People's Republic of China after the Communists began bombarding Quemoy right on the mainland of Aug. 20.

U.S. sources here maintain the parties are only a resumption of the Geneva talks. President Eisenhower has been pressing for negotiations aimed primarily at working out a ceasefire.

Secretary of State Dulles said in Washington Sunday night that the Communists agreed to resume the talks in the interests of peace and "if hope peace will come out of them."

But the talks could run into trouble if the Communists insist on broadening them to include possible U.S. recognition of Red China and membership in the United Nations, two sources of friction that may lie behind the Formosa Strait crisis.

When Wang returned from Peking last Friday with instructions on the talks, he repeated Chinese Communist chief Mao Tse-tung's statement: "If both sides show good will the talks may achieve satisfactory results."

The Warsaw diplomatic corps saw the talks as the start of an effort to stabilize the Far Eastern situation by giving both sides a chance to save face.

If the two ambassadors make any progress the speculation was that the talks might move on to higher levels.

Other Schools May Close in Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The closed doors of Warren County High School symbolized today the intensity of Virginia's battle to prevent race mixing in the public schools.

Under the state's anti-integration laws, Gov. J. Lindsay Almond took control of the county's only high school, a white facility. And 1,045 students looked for ways to keep occupied until the crisis is resolved.

Other localities — chief among them Charlottesville and Arlington — face possible school closings this week.

At the same time, the broad outlines of a new round of litigation intended to put off integration are being sketched.

Residents of Warren County, in northwest Virginia, were silent and calm as they prepared for the impact of a closed high school. Precipitating the development was a Federal District Court order.

When school officials last week were unable to obtain a stay of this order pending an appeal, they suspended operation of the high school. Almond followed by taking control under a state law which automatically closes integrated schools.

A group of clergymen in Warren County urged reopening of the high school. A statement was adopted by 10 of the 14 members of the local ministerial association expressed belief in "the vital necessity" of keeping the public schools open. The statement also said the ministers could not countenance the "use of Christian churches as private schools in evade desegregation."

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Warren County's last Virginia locality in which school integration had been ordered will become the first to shut down a school under the state's provision of massive resistance to desegregation.

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., invoking the extra-ordinary power vested in him by state anti-integration laws, Friday night took over effective Monday the 1,000-pupil Warren County high school at Front Royal.

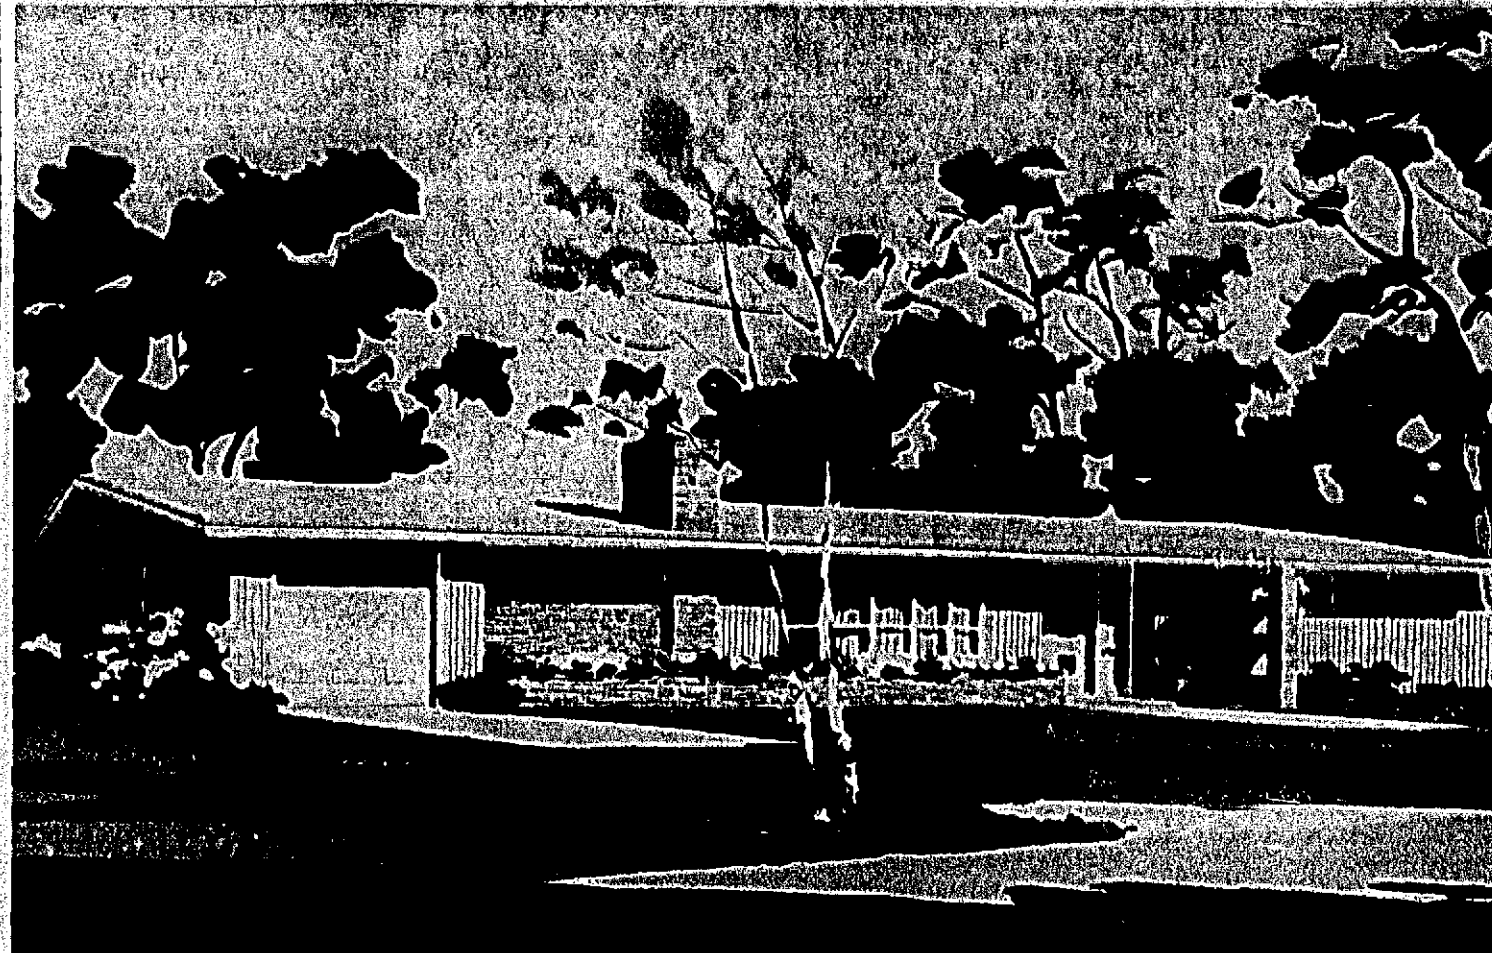

He said "under the compulsion" of a federal court order entered a few days ago, both white and Negro children had been inescapably enrolled in the school as of Monday.

Thus the school closure law, the ultimate weapon in Virginia's war to prevent race mixing in its public schools, dealt its initial blow to an upper Shenandoah Valley area with a relatively small Negro population. The law automatically closes schools in Norfolk County, Va., and in Washington County, Va., which are also in the same federal district.

Announcement of the governor's action in assuming "all power and control" over the Front Royal school was made at the governor's office Friday night in the form of a letter to the county school board and superintendent.

The governor was not present at the time of the school closure statement at the time of his plan to keep the school open as a segregated basis. State law com-

L. P. Williams, secretary of the Building and Construction Trades Council, said there had been no new developments in a dispute between the bricklayers and Gary Reid and Associates, the masonry contractor on the project.

D. P. Gotts, secretary of the bricklayers' local, said the union's dispute is only with the Reid firm and not with the general contractor, Miles Construction Co. Gotts again declined to discuss the issues in the dispute.

The housing project is about 75 per cent completed.

Demos Rapped by Ike as 'Campaigning'

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — President Eisenhower was quoted as having accused the Democrats today of trying to manufacture a campaign issue on the cost of living.

The account of the President's accusation was given to newsmen by Rhode Island Republican candidates for Congress and state offices after they had conferred with Eisenhower for 10 minutes at the summer White House.

In reply to questions, the candidates reported there was no discussion of the increasing Republican cost of living in the elections in neighboring Maine, and no talk of the national GOP picture.

And they said there was no mention of Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's controversial aide, who some GOP candidates around the country have been demanding that the President get rid of.

They contend he has become a major political liability because of his relations with Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

Asked whether any of the Rhode Island delegation suggested to Eisenhower that Adams ought to go, State Sen. Francis G. Dwyer, candidate for lieutenant governor, told newsmen: "We thought about it but we didn't have the nerve to bring it up."

Eisenhower's views regarding the possibility of inflation and the cost of living as campaign issues were reported by Christopher Del Sesto, the GOP candidate for governor, and Francis E. Martineau, who is running for the U. S. House of Representatives.

"He spoke of the record of his administration in holding down the forces of inflation," Del Sesto said.

Then Martineau chimed in: "He said the Democrats are trying to manufacture an issue on the cost of living."

Del Sesto and Del Sesto quoted Eisenhower as saying that during the Truman administration living costs rose 47 per cent and that during the Eisenhower administration the increase has been only 10 per cent.

After today's brief conference the President, wearing a pollster's button with the number 3054, had his picture taken with the Rhode Island delegation on the porch of his temporary office at the U. S. naval base.

It was by 4,914 votes that Del Sesto lost the 1950 gubernatorial election when the State Supreme Court threw out that many ballots as disqualified. Republicans protested and are making the canceled ballots an issue this year.

Eisenhower spent about an hour in his office and then returned to Newport Harbor. He arranged a brief stop on the way to greet the crew of the British ship, the Challenger, in the American's races which start here Saturday.

Eisenhower was being kept closely posted as usual on the Fox East picture and on the continuing integration crisis—particularly the school shutdown situation at Little Rock, Ark.

Other three senior high schools were quiet.

Rain splattered the streets at intervals.

Mrs. L. C. Butler, regional director of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said previously she did not intend to bring seven Negro pupils to Central High in the formal act of trying to enroll.

Reports persisted today that the Department of Justice is preparing some legal action against Little Rock.

The signature of Bullitt Winnett, a representative of all the signers of the Declaration of Independence, only 40 are known to exist.

Light Drills Planned for Razorbacks

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —

With the season opener against Baylor only six days away, Coach Frank Broyles plans to drill his Arkansas Razorbacks hard on fundamentals the rest of this week.

The players started classes today and only afternoon sessions are on tap the next four days before Broyles takes his team to Little Rock to play Baylor Saturday.

Twice-a-day sessions had been the routine previously.

Punting will get a lot of emphasis in the few remaining drills, Broyles said, because of weakness there.

"We've got to have a good kicking game, but right now we aren't sure whether we'll be able to," he declared.

The Parker coach's problem stems from ankle injuries to his top punters—James Monroe of Texarkana and Mike Coney of Taylor.

It isn't certain whether either of them will be able to go at full strength Saturday.

Broyles said the Razorbacks' offense against Baylor "depends on the score," but basically will be straight fundamental football.

Negro Shot by Atlanta Policeman

ATLANTA (AP) — A Negro was shot and killed by a policeman shots were fired at one trolley and another was stoned during a series of weekend disturbances in Atlanta's northwest section.

Police Chief Herbert Jenkins took personal direction of the probe on Sunday night and detectives were told to stay out of the Negro residential area except on necessary police business.

Shortly after the Saturday night disturbance, T. B. Woods said a crowd in the same general area threw rocks at his trolley, smashing several windows. Sunday 11 P. Todd said he heard three shots and that a bullet punctured the trolley windshield inches from his head.

In both instances the trolleys sped away from the scene. No passengers were reported injured.

Police said Joseph Franklin Jeter Sr. was shot when a large crowd of Negroes stormed a police car in an unsuccessful attempt to take a prisoner from police custody. No charges were made against Patrolman W. O. Dempsey, who fired the fatal shot.

Patrolman N. C. Oliver said he arrested Joseph Franklin Jeter Jr., 19, and was trying to get him into a patrol car when he was knecned down by the youth's father. He said Dempsey came to his assistance and fired one shot.

Pirates Are Not Conceding a Thing to Braves

By JACK HAND

The Pirates simply refuse to walk the plank. Six down with only nine games to play, Pittsburgh will not concede to the Milwaukee Braves.

Bob Friend, top winner in the National League, posted his 21st victory for Pittsburgh Sunday in the second game against Chicago 6-2 after Ted Kluwe's sacrifice fly had won the first game 5-4.

Milwaukee lost to Los Angeles 5-3 on a two-run homer by Don Demeter. As a result of the defeat and the Pirates' double success, the Braves' lead was cut to six games. They still need any combination of five victories or Pittsburgh defeats to nail down these series checks.

Joe Cunningham, hitting for Stan Musial at first base, hit two home runs against Philadelphia as St. Louis racked up a 6-3 decision from Sam Jones. The strikeout leader of the majors fanned six, boosting his season total to 212 while winning his 13th.

Willie Mays came to life in the second game at Cincinnati with a double and three singles in San Francisco's second game 6-4 victory. Bob Purkey won his 17th for Cincinnati in the opener 4-3.

Richie Ashburn of the Phils boosted his average to .342 with three hits in five trips against the Cards to widen his lead over Stan Musial in the National League batting race.

The Yankees clinched their 24th American League pennant when they whipped Kansas City 5-3 and 12-7. Detroit swept two from Boston 6-3 and 9-3. Chicago won two from Washington 7-1 and 6-5. Cleveland defeated Baltimore 7-4 but the Orioles took the second 4-2.

Friend went all the way for the Pirates in their second game with the Cubs, pitching a six-hitter. Bill Mazeroski set a Pirate record for homers by a second baseman with 19 and Bob Skinner lashed No. 13, Chuck Tanner's three-run homer helped the Cubs tie the first game in the fifth inning but Kluwe's sacrifice fly after a single by Frank Thomas, a double by

Camden Pours It on Yerger by 46-0 Tally

The Camden football team soundly bounced the Yeger. High Tigers by a 46 to 0 score Saturday night in Hammond Stadium.

The visitors started early, intercepting a Yerger pass in the first period and turned it into seven points. Yerger received a returned 45 yards and then fumbled it into a tally and Hope trailed at half-time 14-0.

Camden came back even stronger in the second half, scoring in the first two minutes for a 21-0 lead. Before the third period was over the visitors made it 27 to 0. From then on it was really a run-away with the final outcome 46-0.

Playing best for Yerger was Prater, Warren, McPadden, Dennis, Edwards, Scott, McGill, Dennis, Holystick, McCarson and Brandon.

Yankees Clinch Pennant in a Double Win

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's official now. The Yankees can start thinking about the Milwaukee Braves and the World Series.

They finally nailed it down Sunday in Kansas City, winning the first game of a doubleheader 5-3. That did it mathematically.

Whitely Ford, who has been out of action with elbow trouble had a five-inning tuneup in the second game but the Yanks had to come up with five runs in the 14th inning to win it 12-7, making Ralph Terry a double loser.

Chicago celebrated the rehiring of Manager Al Lopez for another year by bumping off Washington twice 7-1 and 6-5.

The White Sox have a new challenger for second place. Detroit took over third by beating Boston 6-1 and 9-3, stretching the Red Sox' losing streak to seven games.

Rocky Colavito had two homers and Vic Power one in Cleveland's 7-4 opening victory over Baltimore. Arnold Poytack pitched a three-hitter for the Yankees with a fine six-inning relief job. Five hits, two stolen bases and two walks enabled the Yanks to score five in the 14th. Bob Cerv homered in each game, his 35th and 36th.

Billy Pierce gained his 17th victory for Chicago in the first game, losing his chance for a shutout when Roy Sievers hit his 38th homer. Earl Torgeson hit two homers in the second and rookie John Callison, Sherm Lollar and Bubba Phillips one each. Paye Thronberry hit a pair for Washington off Jim Wilson.

Paul Foytack pitched a three-hitter in the opener at Detroit. Billy King's first homer was the only Boston run. Billy Hofer, a non winner for six weeks, pitched seven innings to take the second, with help from homers by Charlie Maxwell and Gail Harris.

Don Ferrarese of the Indians allowed 12 hits but won the first game at Cleveland. Portocarrero's five-hitter got the Orioles a split despite Minnie Minoso's 22nd homer.

Injunction Asked Against College

MEMPHIS (AP)—A federal court was asked today to issue a temporary injunction barring Memphis State University from refusing to admit Negro students.

The suit was filed by lawyers for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People on behalf of four of eight Negroes who passed entrance examinations to MSU this summer.

The state Board of Education adopted a policy of integration at state colleges last spring, but granted MSU a delay of one year last Wednesday at the request of MSU President J. M. Smith.

The suit asking that the board decision be overruled said the students were led to believe they would be admitted to MSU in September and for this reason did not make application to another school.

They were officially notified Sept. 11 that they would not be admitted to MSU, the suit added, four days before registration and much to late to make application elsewhere.

Restoration Sketches of Washington Tavern

THIS IS HOW the historic Washington Tavern will look when it is restored by the Pioneer Washington Restoration Fund, a tax-exempt group which will make the Tavern its first venture, later adding the James Black blacksmith shop where the original Bowie Knife was forged.

THE DRAWINGS, by Willard R. Burns, Little Rock architect, are based on a research originally made by a WPA project back in 1930's. Fragments of old buildings were examined to determine the interior arrangement in pioneer days, and this information was given to the Arkansas Commemorative Commission, which in turn made it available to the architect.

DONORS WISHING to help the restoration program may send their contributions to either Mrs. Mattie Trimble Wilson, Washington or Chancellor James H. Pilkinton, Hope.

The BRAND RIDER by ED LA VANWAY

Copyright 1958 by Ed La Vanway. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: John Lane, the new foreman at the Four Arrow ranch, has learned from Irma McKenzie, his new boss, that Louis Scharr, an old enemy of John's, is deputy sheriff at Twenty Springs. The sheriff, Tom Cole, is engaged to Irma.

Chapter VII

When Lane turned the sorrel and buggy over to the man, he got his warbag and brought it back to the hotel. He asked the fellow behind the desk—a scrawny older in a shiny black suit—if he could get a room.

Colonel Richards reserved a room for you, Mr. Lane. He peered at the register. "It's room eight. Well, now, Mr. Draper is in room 10. He's our banker."

Lane said, "I met him."

Accepting his door key, he carried his warbag upstairs and deposited it in room eight. Then he came back down into the lobby, considering it too early to turn in for the night. He headed for O'Meara's Three Aces Saloon.

One of the men on the porch followed him through the swinging doors and saw that it was the heavy-set, florid man he had noticed in the public corral earlier in the day. A Quarter Circle M man, Lane paid him no mind at first.

Now he walked deeper into the saloon and edged in beside the silk-hatted banker, putting a furtive look back at Lane. Near Draper stood the chunky, dark-faced Mexican whom Lane had seen in the street with Carlota and Serdugo, too, was watching Lane. All at once Lane realized he was in for trouble.

Somewhere Lane got the idea that the banker was trying to demonstrate with Verdugo and the florid, faced man. It seemed that the banker wasn't in favor of what the pair had in mind.

Turning to the bar, Lane blurted a boot on the brass rail and watched the trio in the backbay mirror. Finally the banker left the saloon, passing Lane without giving him a glance. Lane decided that they were not interested in him.

The heavy-set man was waddling toward him now. Lane downed his drink and turned to find the fellow planted on wide-spread legs, sprawling.

Lane said, "Have a drink."

"I wouldn't drink with you, you skunk!"

Lane's gray eyes hardened, but he restrained himself. The Mexican had moved up to still watching Lane wickedly, yet if Lane didn't stand in reason, that this pair was bracing Lane because of Carlota. This was something more sinister. To the florid man, Lane said, "You stand wide and tall, friend. Should I know you?"

"I'm Jess Boucault, Quarter Circle M foreman."

"And you have reasons to believe I'm a skunk?"

Boucault blinked, thrown off balance by Lane's stalling.

Lane's concern was with Verdugo.

Verdugo seemed poised, waiting for Boucault to make the first move. All at once then a flicker shot through the banker's eyes that sent Lane whirling from the bar.

Lane reached for his gun because Verdugo had grabbed a knife, but Boucault shoved against him and drove upward with a fist, hitting Lane flush on the jaw.

Shouts of alarm lifted and the saloon began clearing, with boots pounding toward the swinging doors.

Verdugo couldn't throw his knife on account of Boucault, so he grabbed it and charged at Lane.

Reeling from Boucault's blow, Lane nevertheless got the weapon free of its holster. He brought the barrel of the gun down on Boucault's floppy hat. Boucault fell, hitting the brass rail and rolling limply into the sawdust.

Someone leading the mahogany showed a way in and Lane threw up an arm, not an instant too soon, blocking the downward step of the blade in the Mexican's fist. Lane then let his six-gun fall.

and grabbed for the Mexican's wrist with his right hand. Using his hip, he slammed the Mexican to the floor, belly down. He put a knee on the Mexican's back and kept twisting his arm, blinding a gasp of pain. Verdugo's grip loosened. When the knife fell from his fingers, Lane grabbed it.

A man bewled, "Hold it, John Lane, you're under arrest!" Then a gun roared, the bullet from it whipping past Lane's face.

Still gripping the knife he'd taken from Verdugo, Lane went sideways to retrieve the gun he'd dropped and, expecting any second to be shot down by the man who'd missed him with the first shot.

No more shots came. Facing around with his own gun ready, Lane saw why.

The fellow had been afraid to fire because he was under the muzzle of a shotgun, and he'd missed the first time because Pat O'Meara himself had intervened with his aim. By reaching in shot-gun across the mahogany to punch the man O'Meara had viciously saved Lane's life.

The fellow who had shot at Lane was Louis Scharr, an old enemy who now wore a sign on his vest. He was a squat-bodied man who wore his hair with undented curls. Sideburns adorned his jaws, and his black lower lip wore a small, round, silver nose ring.

And then his eyes blacked out, and he fell back, his head hitting the wall. Lane cut a glance at Verdugo who'd climbed to his feet and

Nationalists Get a Convoy to Quemoy

By FORREST EDWARDS
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist cargo planes flew the supply run to Little Quemoy again today. The Defense Ministry said the airdrop was successful.

The announcement gave no other details. Presumably the flight, like the successful one Sunday, was escorted by U.S. and Nationalist fighter squadrons.

Little Quemoy, two miles west of Quemoy, is within easy range of Red jet fighters and probably the antiaircraft guns bristling on Red China's mainland coast.

Whether the U.S. planes were flying in past the three-mile sea limit was not disclosed. U.S. 7th Fleet ships guarding Nationalist sea convoys have remained outside it.

As the Nationalist planes flew the new run, a convoy of Nationalist vessels was assembling in the Pescadores for another trip into the Red artillery curtain around the Nationalist offshore islands. The Pescadores are about midway between Formosa and Quemoy.

The supply problem for the outposts, however, was still obviously a big headache, despite the successes of the past two days. U.S. Rear Adm. Paul P. Blackburn, Formosa Strait patrol commander, told newsmen the supply situation "could be better—a helluva lot better."

"I don't guarantee anything except that we are going to try the best we can," he added.

Red shell fire in the past few days has dropped off. After remaining quiet all night, Communist shore batteries opened up this morning and in the next six hours dropped 103 shells on the Quemoy complex.

Newsmen were barred from visiting the Pescadores, Matsu and supply-short Quemoy.

This hint that some sort of major operation might be under way came as a new sea convoy was forming at the Pescadores island supply base 30 miles from Formosa and 70 miles from Quemoy.

The Nationalist also stepped up their propaganda war, dropping millions of leaflets on the mainland.

Sundar's successful convoy was directed by U. S. amphibious experts, who apparently showed the Nationalists some new technique.

As usual, escort ships from the U. S. 7th Fleet stopped at the three mile limit and lay offshore. The American jets covering the operation were believed under similar orders.

The supply ship that got through was an old World War II LST (landing ship, tank), a much larger vessel than the LSM's (landing ship, medium), which failed on four convoys last week. The LST can carry about 1,300 tons of cargo compared with 350 for the LSM.

The LST slammed up to the beach and opened the huge doors of its bows shortly after noon. As the Communists started a 3,000-shell barrage, the Nationalists said, wheeled vehicles raced ashore with the supplies and the LST withdrew.

The shelling blasted holes in the side of the old landing ship and fragments severed the cables of her doors. The LST was towed out to sea and to her base in the Pescadores.

The air drop on Little Quemoy Island was termed successful but the Nationalists gave no details.

The United States, meanwhile, was pouring men, missiles and planes into Formosa, which the United States is committed to defend under a 1950 treaty with Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek.

The material also could be thrown into the defense of the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, said President Eisenhower, decides they are essential to the defense of Formosa itself.

the foreman, who was also getting up, looking back at Scharr, he said "I wouldn't let a man like you arrest me."

NAACP Raps Governor of Illinois

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—A leader of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People said last night that Illinois Gov. William G. Stratton has failed to take vigorous action to speed racial integration in public schools.

"Segregationists are finding newer and cleverer means for maintaining segregation in most schools in Illinois, particularly in Southern Illinois," said Dr. L. H. Holman, Georgia dentist and Illinois NAACP president.

He told representatives of 15 Southern Illinois NAACP branches that progress toward school integration has been made in Alton, Joliet and Rockford. He said there have been difficulties in Colp.

Murphysboro, Danville and East St. Louis.

Illinois Democrats made strong statements on the matter of segregation but there has been no comment from the Republican party which Gov. Stratton heads, Dr. Holman said.

"In a number of cities in southern Illinois there have been threats made that unless the people stop fighting for integration, relief checks will be withheld.

"In Danville particularly, Negro teachers, many of whom have higher degrees than white teachers, are still being assigned to predominantly Negro schools."

Next to Paris, Montreal is the world's largest French-speaking city.
